

Website Terms of Use

The terms that govern browsing our websites (product terms are separate).

Version 1.1 | Effective 28 July 2026 | Legal & company

Owner Obedience Global Ltd board | Approved by Obedience Global Ltd board on 28 July 2026

Approval state company-approved | Next review 28 October 2026

01 Scope

These terms cover the public Obedience websites: obedience.global, obedience.cloud and the public pages of quantify.obedience.global. Use of the QuantifyQS application itself is governed by the QuantifyQS Terms of Service and, during the invite-only phase, the Early Access Terms.

02 Using the sites

- Do not attempt to breach the security of the sites, probe infrastructure, or disrupt service for others.
- Do not scrape or republish site content at scale without permission.
- Do not upload unlawful content through any form on the sites.

03 Content and accuracy

We follow an honest-marketing rule: capabilities are labelled Live, In development, or Roadmap, and we do not publish invented metrics or testimonials. Site content is information about our products, not professional advice: see the Professional Use & Reliance Statement.

04 Intellectual property

The Obedience name, compass mark, site design and software are our property or that of our licensors. Third-party names (including RICS and NRM) belong to their owners; our use of standards names is referential and implies no affiliation or endorsement.

05 Liability and law

The websites are provided "as is" for information. To the fullest extent permitted by law we exclude implied warranties for the websites. Nothing in these terms excludes liability that cannot be excluded by law, including for death or personal injury caused by negligence, or fraud. These terms are governed by the laws of England and Wales, and the courts of England and Wales have exclusive jurisdiction.

Canonical online record: <https://obedience.global/policies/website-terms>